Code1: The debugging that was done for the first set of code was to convert the int of 1 into a string. This can be done using the str() function. Then at the end of the code you want to add the db.close() command otherwise the file wouldn't have closed.

Code2: The debugging for this one was to indent the for loop and add a colon under the findTotal function. The print statement then needs to be indented under the for loop in order to function.